

MEMO

TRAINING ASSEMBLY

1. The purpose of this training assembly is to provide the necessary information for the correct assembly of the engine and transmission.

2. The following instructions should be read carefully before starting the assembly.

3. The assembly should be performed in the order given in the following instructions.

4. The assembly should be performed in the order given in the following instructions.

5. The assembly should be performed in the order given in the following instructions.

6. The assembly should be performed in the order given in the following instructions.

7. The assembly should be performed in the order given in the following instructions.